Mike's politically incorrect eConnections[™] newsletter

Most company "newsletters" are dry as bone dust and full of cheesy promos. Right? You delete them just as soon as they show up in your mailbox. Big Yawn. Mine is nothing like that.

Hi, my name is Mike Fahrion, and every few weeks I dish out practical tips for getting all those pieces of equipment in your care to talk to each other. We give out special freebies too like specialized reports and tech guides, to make your job easier. WARNING: If I'm tweaked about something, you'll hear about that, too—if the occasional poke at our own Dilbert lifestyle offends you, or if you're a card carrying member of, well, just about anything—well, you might want to skip this one.

Sign up today to get the next issue. We respect your privacy and intensely dislike SPAMMERS as much as you do. So your email address is never given, sold or traded to anyone, and of course you can unsubscribe at any time.
